

YANCEY OFF ON DANGEROUS FLIGHT

MASKED MEN TORTURE AND ROB VICTIMS

Cash and Jewelry Worth $50,000 Taken as Woman Gives Party For Husband.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Three uninvited guests—masked bandits who insisted on torturing their victims as well as robbing them—sat at the farewell dinner Mrs. Lottie Brenner Von Buelow, millionaire business woman, gave for her estranged husband in her three story gold coast mansion.

The bandits, after taking possession of the fashionable residence for nearly two hours, escaped with cash and jewelry which amounted to approximately $50,000.

GAIN ENTRANCE

Two of the men obtained entrance last night in the guise of federal census takers; they admitted the third, and the trio proceeded to round up Mrs. Von Buelow's guests and servants. Binding their victims to chairs and sealing their mouths with adhesive tape, the three then leisurely ransacked the home, taking jewelry, watches, silverware and money.

In the midst of the raid Count Enrique Dechow Von Buelow, the estranged husband and former German war aviator, called and was admitted. He too was trussed and gagged with tape. He had called, he said, to say goodbye to his wife, as he planned on leaving for New York without contesting the divorce suit.

Confronting the Von Buelows, the two guests and two servants, the bandits "with drawn guns began to search the tape and one of the robbers stepped up to Mrs. Von Buelow.

"They say your worth a million dollars. Where do you keep it? And where are your jewels?"

The tape was suddenly jerked from her lips and the question was repeated. She could only moan. Her lips were retaped and the same torture applied to Mrs. May Gross, a guest.

BANDIT TALKS

Turning to Mrs. Von Buelow, the robber continued: "Lottie, why bother about getting a divorce from your husband? Just allow me to save you that trouble. A couple of bullets through the temple here (indicated by gun thrusts) and that will be all. How about it?"

The tape was torn away again. Mrs. Von Buelow pleaded that they might take anything if they would not hurt anyone. In the course of their search the bandits had located the jewel box, containing $50,000 worth of gems. These they collected together with two watches from the former aviator and several hundreds of dollars in cash from the men.

"American Business At Turn in the Road" Says Dr. Klein of Washington

WASHINGTON, April 1.—American business has reached the "turn in the road" and is due for improvement, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce declared today.

One serious obstacle which has prevented greater activity, especially in the progress of the $7,000,000, building program has been the weather.

"Material relief will result from an end of the cold weather, which will make possible the opening up of the Great Lakes traffic, and beginning of building on a substantial scale," Klein said.

"The ice locked lakes particularly have handicapped such cities as Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee. Once this traffic gets moving unemployment should be relieved materially. Business along the lakes is to a certain degree contingent upon the free movement of transportation on these inland waterways."

Klein said that the government, and private commercial bodies as well as business and industries are putting every pressure possible to bring about recovery and that there is every indication of success.

FIRE DAMAGE IS $300,000

TOLEDO, O., April 1.—Damage, which will undoubtedly total $300,000 after a complete check has been made, today had been caused by a spectacular blaze which swept a leading dock of the Willis-Overland Company here and destroyed more than 100 new automobiles, 31 box cars and the 700-foot dock.

Officials of the company estimated their loss at $125,000. The 31 freight cars were valued at $5,000 each for an aggregate total of $155,000.

Damage to property adjoining the dock is expected to bring the estimates even higher.

WOMEN PLAN HARD FIGHTS FOR OFFICES

Seven Members of House of Representatives Plan Battle For Other Terms.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—American women have had a taste of public service—and they like it.

Wise in the ways of politics and men, several women members of the house of representatives are planning vigorous campaigns designed to bring them back to Congress for another term. All of the bloc of eight women representatives are up for reelection. Mrs. Pearl Peden Oldfield, an Arkansas Democrat, alone of the group will not run again. Mrs. Oldfield announced when she was appointed for the last term of Congress she would not continue after the present session ended. She is still of the same mind.

The remainder, however, have mapped out campaigns extensive as those of their male colleagues, and their voices will be heard from political stumps all over the land when Congress adjourns.

Most of them will face no opposition in the primaries. One, Rep. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican representative at large from Illinois, even now is knocking at the door of the senate, waging political war for the seat of Senator Deneen, (R) of Illinois.

Of them all, the campaign of Rep. Ruth Bryan Owen, Florida Democrat, promised to be the most spectacular. Mrs. Owens, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, will campaign from travelling headquarters. With a secretary she plans to carry an office, along with her, attached to an automobile in a trailer, she will have office hours and see as many people as possible in the towns she passes through.

Mrs. Owen plans as usual, to submit to the people of Florida an annual report or her stewardship in congress, and expects to base her campaign on her record of service.

Purely political issues will mark few of the campaigns. Nearly everyone of the candidates expects to ask her constituents to send her back to Congress on the grounds of past service.

One exception will be in New Jersey, where Rep. Mary Norton, a Democrat, predicted the whole campaign will be centered on the prohibition question. She is wet, Mrs. Norton expects no opposition in the primaries, to be held June 14.

Rep. Katherine Langley, (R) of Kentucky, planned to open headquarters in Pikeville, April 7. She expects to have the support of her husband a former representative. In her campaign. There was some question as to whether she would retire and allow her husband to run for the place up until a month or so ago, when she declared definitely she would run. Primaries in Kentucky will be on August 2nd.

COPS GUARD FORD PLANT

From 10 to 15 Thousand Unemployed Become Unruly While Seeking Jobs.

DETROIT, April 1.—Dearborn police today guarded the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company to prevent a repetition of yesterday's disorders when tear gas and night sticks were used to disperse between 10,000 and 15,000 disappointed job seekers.

Rumors that the Ford company was about to hire a large number of men brought thousands to the employment office. Disappointed, the men became unruly.

Police broke up the crowds using night sticks and tear bombs, it was said.

A detail of eight police was kept on duty through the night. The officers will be kept there today.

April Fool

By Dale Strawser
When I awoke this morning, I was, without warning, launched on a very eventful day. So I sat at the breakfast table, I being well and able to eat, without help, my own way. I picked up a slice of thin, light brown toast. To butter and then, of course, eat. So, as a silver lining has a dark cloud shining The dark side made the toast complete. I reached for the meal, it was my best cereal, And poured in the milk without fault. I put in some sugar, and then like a cougar, Made a face when I found it was salt. Then I really thought what I had sought I found it was April Fool's day. So I went to school, thinking not of the golden rule. But to see how many tricks I could play. In the first period class, a lack and alas, The teacher passed paper to each one. But such are they, the ones who will play. The expected test was none. All through the classes the lads and lassies Felt victims to each others tricks. It was not an exception, fell for the shoestring conception, And took the harmless laughs without any kicks. So we all have our fun, you—I—everyone. But now I'll advise you about your play. Please take this to heart, don't let it part. And now I forget what I was to say.

CHANGE SITE OF HIGHWAY OF MEMORY

Plant Trees South of City Instead of North—Work Starts Tuesday.

The long-talked of "Road of Remembrance" to be dedicated to the soldiers who lost their lives in the World War, became a reality Tuesday with the planting of the 89 trees along either side of the Scioto trail, about three miles south of Circleville. The original plan of the memorial lane, was to plant the trees north of town. Highway authorities however stated that the road at original location was too narrow, so the trees were planted south of the city.

The new location is between the Triangle Farms and Scipp on the Chillicothe pike. H. D. Metcalf, division engineer of the department of highways was in charge of the planting of the trees which were bought in Marion-co.

Miss Nell Weldon, who is largely responsible for this project, has expressed her appreciation to all of the organizations in Pickaway-co which aided in the expense of the memorial. Markers, dedicated to any one soldier individually may be erected at the memorial sight, and these are to be encouraged by families who wish to remember soldiers who died in France. Arrangements for these may be made with Miss Weldon.

The 89 trees placed 50 feet apart will grow into monuments to the soldier dead. Passing motorists can never fail to recognize this magnificent sight, and the boulder marker will explain the object of the trees.

The dedication of "The Road of Remembrance" will be an event of the near future.

Mr. Higley, of the committee of road maintenance, who helped to plant the trees Tuesday, suggested the hard maple trees, as the most suited for the purpose of beauty and shade.

RESCUE CREWS RESUME HUNT

Second Tragedy Is Narrowly Averted When Power Falls—Remove Six Bodies.

KETTLE ISLAND, Ky., April 1.—Rescue crews today were to resume search for bodies in the Pioneer Coal Company mine where an explosion claimed the lives of 16 miners Saturday. A second tragedy was narrowly averted last night when rescuers fled from the mine after the power which operated air fans failed.

Thirty men who had previously removed six bodies from the shaft were depending on the suction devices to keep deadly gases from the mine compartment. Several minutes elapsed before the workers could be warned of the danger. The search was then abandoned until the power line is repaired.

Dr. Howard Jones Tells Kiwanis Club Some Of Early History of the City

Dr. Howard Jones, Circleville's most renowned historian, gave another of his interesting and educational talks to the Kiwanis club Monday evening at the club's weekly meeting at the Boggs hotel.

Dr. Jones told the Kiwanians some of the early history of Pickaway-co and Circleville. He related a number of excerpts from the diary of an easterner who traveled through Ohio trying to find a site for a settlement of eastern people who wanted the travel to the Ohio country. He said the traveler wandered from the Ohio river to Chillicothe, then the state's capital, and in his memoirs he wrote that he had a very enjoyable time in that town. He said he later traveled on toward Circleville, and stopped overnight at a town called Jefferson located on the old Scioto trail.

In his diary, Dr. Jones said, he wrote that the hotel at Jefferson was terrible, that its food was poor and its whiskey bad. He then continued to Circleville. The diary reported Circleville as the wickedest town he had ever

TRIO TRIES TO FIND BERMUDA IN EIGHT HRS.

Flight Entails 750 Miles of Sea—Many Crosswinds Are Hazards.

COLLEGE POINT, N. Y. April 1.—Captain A. Yancey and two companions took off at 9:25 o'clock today for Bermuda.

They hope to bring Bermuda within eight hours of New York. William Alexander, veteran pilot, was at the controls of the amphibian.

The flight is considered one of the most difficult feats of aerial navigation.

The start was made from the waters off the landing of the Edo Aircraft Company's plant here. The craft is a Stinson monoplane powered with a Wright whirling motor. It has been equipped with special pontoons which may be moved so that the craft may be used as a land plane.

The difficult part of the flight will be the navigation, according to aeronautical experts. Captain Yancey, a master mariner with an unlimited license for ships, is to steer The Pilot, as the plane has been named.

The navigation entails a flight over a 750-mile expanse of sea, which is swept by many crosswinds. A tiny island is the goal.

Captain Yancey guided the Balances monoplane Pathfinder from Old Orchard, Me., to Rome last summer. This flight was one of the closing adventures of the last ocean-flying season and the present flight enters in the new season.

Ed. Bouck is to be in communication with the plane in New York City. The plane flies both long and short waves receiving and sending sets, besides the radio equipment, which weighs 140 pounds, the pilot is carrying 250 gallons of fuel and oil, enough for ten hours of cruising at 300 miles an hour.

In addition to these supplies, the plane is equipped with sea anchors, fathoms of line, pistol for rocketing lights into the sky, repair parts, tools, food and water. Most of the extra equipment is carried to meet the emergency which would be created if the plane overshoot its tiny target.

EXPECT BOXING COMMISSION TO PUT O. K. ON SCHMELING AND JACK SHARKEY FIGHT

NEW YORK, April 1.—Some time today, formal sanction is expected to be granted for the holding of the first world's heavy-weight championship match ever fought on a strict percentage basis in all the years of boxing's history. The date will be June 12; the place, the Yankee stadium; the beneficiary, the local milk fund, and the principals, Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and Max Schmeling, of Germany. Neither of the latter will be guaranteed the change out of a pair, this time.

They will "swing on the gate," as the saying is, each receiving 25 percent of the receipts, and they thus earn the distinction of being the first pair of contenders in a heavyweight title fight who have been willing to gamble with the proposition known as

BOBBY JONES LEADS FIELD

National Open Champ After $5,000 Prize—Smith Trails Four Strokes.

AUGUSTA, GA., April 1.—With Bobby Jones, national open champion, leading the field by three strokes, the galaxy of professionals and the scattering of amateurs entered in the $5,000 southeastern open this morning began the final 36-holes of play.

The Atlanta amateur, turning in a pair of par 72's for the first half of the tourney yesterday, showed a four-stroke lead over his rival, young Horton Smith, the Cragston professional, who nosed him out of the lead in the recent Savannah open by one stroke.

Jones and Smith are easily the big show of the tournament. A gallery of something like 2,000 followed them yesterday over the picturesque Augusta country club course. Today the gallery that watched them over the Forest Hills-Ricker course, where the last 36 holes of the tourney are being played.

Old Calamity Jane wasn't functioning so well yesterday, which accounts for the fact that Jones did not turn in an even better count for the first day round. His drives, save for an occasional exception, were long and straight; his approach shots were perfect; but he missed about a dozen putts at divers distances.

MANAGERS TO CONVE

Final Selection of Umpires To Be Taken Care of—Other Problems.

A meeting of recreation ball league managers is scheduled to be held in the sheriff's office Wednesday evening. Several matters of importance must be ironed out at this meeting, one of which is the final selection of umpires for the season.

Each team in the league will be adorned in brand new jerseys and caps when the season opens on May 5. The different combinations of colors which will be seen when those aggregations trot out onto the field for the first time will be almost enough to cause a mild riot.

Anyway, plans as they stand now, indicate that this summer's competition will be even hotter than it was a year ago. The strength of none of the teams is certain, except that each manager promises a better ball club than he had a year ago.

TRAINING CAMP SHORTS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 1.—This Texas city swelled with honest pride today. For it was here George Herman Ruth, the big sock and salary man, yesterday officially voted in plant-your-garden-seeds-now season by clouting a genuine Ruth home run as the Yankees defeated San Antonio, 14 to 4. Indeed Mr. Ruth was very generous to 8,500 San Antonio fans. He also singled, walked twice, hit a double and finally sacrificed during a ninth inning outburst that netted seven Yankees runs.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 1.—Johnny Mostil appeared more secure today in his bid for a permanent berth with the New York Giants. The former Chicago White Sox player got a home run and a double yesterday as the Giants defeated Shreveport 11 to 7.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1.—The Brooklyn Robins arrived here today to make their first stop on the barnstorming tour that will take them into the flatbush regions April 10. They will play exhibition games here and in Macon, Atlanta, and Charlotte.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 1.—The Cincinnati Reds, who have already broken camp and are headed back north, stopped off here for a two-game series with the Crackers today and tomorrow.

Hughy Critz, who had been ailing with a lame neck and shoulder, was pronounced fit and ready to take his place in the lineup today.

Red Lucas, star hurler of the Reds, who is being groomed for the opening encounter, April 15, at Redland field, Cincinnati, will pitch the first five innings. Jake May will then take up the burden.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 1.—President Clark Griffith of the Nats. was all smiles today and so was Walter Johnson.

"Goose" Goslin, the slugger man, is now ready to talk contract and so wired Griffith. Promptly went the answer, "report at once" to talk it over. The Goose, as the baseball world knows, has been holding out on Griffith and the last word heard was that Goslin would have to train at his own expense. His wire made it plain he would talk business in the understanding the Washington club is to pay his expenses.

Goslin has been rustivating at his home in Salem, N. J.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 1.—A little bedraggled as a result of their activity over the week-end, the Chicago Cubs were given a day off to think over their shortcomings in the four-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Lacking the services of "Pie" Traynor and "Small Poison" Waner, the Pirates were able to pommel Cub pitching in three of the four games played here with more lasting results than the Cubs, minus Lester Bell and "Woody" English, were able to pommel Pirate pitching.

DALLAS, Tex., April 1.—The Chicago White Sox decided to take an inventory of things today after the Dallas Steers, 1929 champions of the Texas league, completely outclassed them yesterday to win by a score of 4 to 2.

The Sox made three errors to none by the minor league team. Neither of the Sox runs was batted in.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 1.—On their way from the Pacific coast to Texas and other southern points, the Pirates stopped over here long enough to whip the Tucson team of the Arizona state league, 5 to 3.

Overshadowing the victory, however, was the injury suffered by diminutive Dick Bartell, speedy Corsairs shortstop. Bartell wrenched his ankle and probably will be out of the lineup for the rest of the week.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 1.—The champion Athletics were enjoying a day of rest today after

The Truth About Fat

Science has found that excess fat is largely due to a weakened gland. Now physicians the world over, in treating obesity, combat that major cause. Starvation is not advised.

The chief factors they use are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. In late years, excess fat has been fast disappearing, as everybody knows.

The method and formula are explained in every box of Marmola. As you gain new slenderness, beauty and vim, you know why. Go try the method which has done so much. Watch the amazing results. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box.

COMMISSION REPORTS 97 FATALITIES IN FEBRUARY

The records of the Division of Safety and Hygiene of the Industrial Commission show there were 16,531 industrial accident and occupational disease claims, including 97 fatalities, filed during the month of February as compared with 16,986 claims, including 111 fatalities, in January. The time loss in February was 865,198 days, which is 101,987 days less than in January.

Pickaway-co had 14 accidents, two of which were fatal, none caused permanent partial disability, five caused over seven days lost time, one seven days or less, six medical cases causing no time loss. The time loss for the county as a result of accidents was 2,156 days. In January, this county had 32 accidents with one fatality and the time loss was 6,276 days.

"Even taking into consideration the fact that there were three more days of accident exposure in January than there were in February," says Supt. Thos. P. Kearns of the Division of Safety and Hygiene, "the February record is still an improvement over that of the preceding month. In January the total of all industrial accidents averaged approximately 703 for each day, while in February the average was about 680 per day. Fatalities, while showing less of a decline, were less in February than in the preceding month, the comparison being approximately 4.11 per day in January to 4.04 per day in February."

Leather and leather goods, vehicle manufacture, quarries and stone crushing, clerical and professional employment and miscellaneous industries were the only groups to go through the month without a fatality. Building erection and demolition led all groups with 14 fatalities, metal goods had 12, blast furnaces, steel works and rolling mills 11 and mining 10. For the number of accidents reported public employees, with 7 fatalities, had the greatest severity for the month, the time loss in this group being 48,526 days for the 461 accidents, an average time loss of more than 105 days for every mishap.

REPORT FARMERS PLANT INTENTIONS

The planting intentions expressed by Ohio farmers on March 1, indicate no change in the corn acreage, a 6 per cent increase in oats, a 4 per cent increase for potatoes, 8 per cent for soy beans, a 5 per cent decrease for barley, and a 4 per cent decrease for hay. This summary of the expressed intentions for planting was compiled by G. S. Ray of the federal crop reporting service and forwarded to County Agent Lewis. The actual acreage planted however, will be larger or smaller than indicated by these early intentions reports, to weather conditions, price changes, labor supply, etc. For the United States as a whole, the intention reports as compared with the 1929 acreage show, a 2.8 per cent for corn, a 2.5 per cent increase for oats, a 1.7 increase for barley, potatoes 3.4 per cent increase, soy beans an 18 per cent increase and a decrease of 8 per cent in hay.

A review of these intentions should be of interest to Pickaway-co farmers in contemplating their acreage for the different crops.

SPRING FERTILIZER BUSINESS STARTS

Two Carloads of Fertilizer Have Been Delivered—Orders Ready.

The Farm Bureau fertilizer service is being assembled for the spring methods of Pickaway-co farmers. Two car loads of fertilizer have been delivered and distributed and orders for several cars are being assembled to meet the needs for corn and late potato acreage. The complete fertilizers are most popular for spring use.

The general trucking fertilizer is confined primarily to a 4-12-4 fertilizer. Potato fertilizer, either 6-8-6 or 4-10-6, Corn fertilizer for light colored soils, 4-12-4; 2-12-6; or 2-14-4. Dark colored soils, 0-14-6; 2-14-4 and 0-20-0. Soy Bean fertilizer, 0-14-6 and 0-20-0.

That it pays to fertilize corn, is very evident from the results obtained in the 100 Bushel Corn Club. In analyzing the group who were fertilizing to attain this goal and who surpassed it by a yield of 120 bushels per acre, it was found that 83 per cent used fertilizer broadcast, 36 per cent made row or hill applications and 14 per cent applied a side dressing of nitrogen.

Order for spring delivery will be closed by the County Farm Bureau within the next week.

The industrial age needs't deal so high and mighty until it solves what a man from mars might consider the simple problem of providing steady work for men who want to work, when there are plenty of materials around to work with, and everybody wants things that could be made out of them.

Grouping of stove, sink, cupboards and work table in her kitchen is one factor determining whether the farm homemaker can be a community leader or whether she is too tired to take any part in community life.

MOVIE PRINCIPLES
The American film industry has adopted a moral code which will interest the world. Will Hays, speaking for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, announces a remarkable "declaration of principle" which is to govern film production hereafter, including
these items:
"Every effort shall be made to reflect in drama and entertainment the better standards of life."
"Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed."
"Crimes against law shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime or against law and justice."
"Methods of crime shall not be presented in explicit detail upon the screen."
"The use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the actual requirements of characterization or plot."
"The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld."
"Scenes of passion shall not be introduced when not essential to the plot."
"No film or episode may throw ridicule upon any religious faith."
"The history, institutions, prominent people and life of other nations shall be presented fairly."
"Obscenity and pointed profanity are forbidden."
"Indecent dances and undue ex-posure are forbidden."
"This is a large order. Its enforcement will keep Mr. Hays and his staff of censors extremely busy. But the industry is going about the matter right, and is to be commended for its remarkable undertaking. The proper place to censor films is in the studio where they are made."
"Because this is a moral thing to do, it should also be a profitable thing. A great industry cannot afford to antagonize the decency, self-respect, pride and honor of any social, national or racial group. A world audience has to be conciliated. The only question is whether any art can suit the whole world and still remain art."

SHEEP DIP
The nation is now learning what "paralyzed drunk" means. Many hundred people, scattered through many states, have had their lower limbs paralyzed by drinking a druggable compound popularly known as "jake," and supposed to be Jamaica ginger.
"It is drunk for its potent kick." In its normal, medical form it looks, smells and tastes like a high-powered drink, appealing to reckless alcoholics who like their whiskey straight and are always looking for something stronger. At last they have found a beverage strong enough
for them.
Presumably none of them suspected that its potency came less from the ginger extract and alcohol than from its chief ingredient, "crude carbolic acid or cresote," and that they were imbibing a compound intended not for the inside of man but the outside of sheep.

Now those who remain alive
know, but the lesson comes too late to do them much good. Will it do the rest of the drinking public any good?
And what will be done to the knaves who made and sold the stuff to the victims?
Miss Mary Alice Strawser of Hayward avenue is critically ill at

"MASTER OF MONEY" BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XLIX.
"SUPPOSE he overawes Abramov and his men—
suppose they turn against us?" suggested Shirley.
"Then we have the ransom business all over again," he answered.
"They won't cut our throats. We're worth more to them alive. But if that does happen, take the first opportunity to slip into the dug-out."
"I shall be able to break away to the Serbians, probably—and the Serbians will make short work of Abramov's little lot. But it will only come to that if our diplomacy fails. I've had a bit of training in this sort of thing, you know. The Mexican outlaws are pretty lively people."
Shirley thrilled at his sheer abundance of dynamic energy. He was not worried—he was enjoying himself. In the camp she had seen another side of his nature. She had seen the man of action, brisk, alive and more than a little brutal.
"You'll let me stay, won't you, Alan?"
"Oh, yes. Nothing very violent will happen. I'm going to build this railway, Shirley. If Stephanos can stop me, good luck to him!
Here he is, by the way. By jove!
Picturesque beggar, isn't he?"
Shirley, too, looked with something approaching admiration at a man of magnificent physique in full Balkan dress astride a passable Arab. His riding boots were new and his accoutrements clean. Behind him, in obvious respectfulness, walked Abramov and some thirty
of his followers.
As they reached the clearing,
Stephanos dismounted and one of Abramov's men took his horse.
Shirley stood close by Alan's side. Stephanos advanced and when within a few paces saluted in Western military fashion. Alan returned the salute and Shirley bowed.
"Well, Stephanos, what do you want?" asked Alan, speaking in French.
"Monsieur is a little abrupt,"
answered Stephanos, whose accent, Shirley noted, was if anything rather better than Alan's.
She watched the bandit look con-temptuously at Alan's shirt-sleeves and obviously contrast them with his own magnificent
"I come on a matter of business. I wish to offer you the protection of my poor forces."
There was a short silence during which Alan waited for Abramov's men to get within earshot.
"Thank you, but you come too late," said Alan. "I have already made arrangements with Abra-mov."
"I don't mean to say that you have," said Shirley. "My cousin Abra-mov and his men are well known. But his force is small.
My man for example, is more than double the strength of his."
"Monsieur has anything to say?"
"Yes. Go to the devil, Stephanos, Abramov and I will fight you!"

He had gripped her with his right arm while with the left he held a long dagger pointed at Alan.
A little object lesson, Monsieur.
Call upon Abramov to attack me
—now—
Before Shirley realized what had happened, Stephanos had made a swift, catlike movement and seized her. He had gripped her with his right arm and was pressing her close to him, while with the left hand he held a long dagger pointed at Alan. She could see Alan's face—and she forgot to breathe.
"Don't do anything, Alan!" she whispered in English. "Remember he should throw him upon the bandit's knife."
"Madame please me, Monsieur,"
said Stephanos, still holding her.
"When I return to the camp to discuss the matter of your ransom, Madame shall be part of the price."
Stephanos released her.

Science Fast Overcoming Typhoid

Violence of This Destructive Disease Greatly Lessened—Good Nursing Essential.

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.
U. S. Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health
New York City

SCIENCE and medical knowledge have made rapid strides in recent years. They have helped to mitigate the destructive forces of many diseases. Typhoid fever is one of them.
We used to fear very often that an epidemic of typhoid fever
was raging,
now here and now there.
Usually, the epidemics were in the large cities where the water supply
had been polluted in one way or another or the milk supply had been contaminated.
Now, the water supply of every city is carefully safeguarded from pollution. Milk supplies are even more strictly guarded from infection
by this destructive disease. Publicity is now carried on by means of which the public is instructed in preventive measures against disease.
Inoculation by serum prevents, or greatly lessens the violence of the disease.
Typhoid fever is primarily an inflammation of certain glands in the small and large intestine. From this seat of inflammation various symptoms develop which are destructive to the human tissues.
It is caused by a well-known germ called "Eberth's bacillus." It was found that the disease could be communicated to animals by injecting a suitable culture of this bacillus. And so it is that inoculation by this method has been of vast service in preventing the disease and lessening its violence.
Germs of typhoid fever may be also into the human system not only by the above suggested, but through infected meat, oysters, raw vegetables and other food. The germs may be carried by persons who have had the disease and continue to have "typhoid carriers." It is possible for them to communicate the disease to others even though they may be immune from it themselves. Cooks, waiters and others who handle food, often get typhoid or others by being carriers of the germ.
It may develop in a few days or it may take two or three weeks for the disease to appear. In the beginning there is a tired feeling increase headache, poor appetite, nausea, and often diarrhea. The bones ache, and the whole body aches and feels sore. There may be swelling and chills followed by sweating.
Then other symptoms appear.
There is a devastating fever as well as the first week the temperature usually rises one degree daily. In the second week, the temperature remains high, the pulse rate is rapid and feeble. There are delirium, prostration, and profound prostration.
In the third week the symptoms may become more pronounced or they abate.
Typhoid thrives usually where large numbers of people congregate in camps, colleges and schools, in hospitals and prisons.
Milk brought from one farm may contaminate the milk supply of a large community. In every epidemic of typhoid the milk supply is the first thing to come under suspicion. Pasteurization has been a blessing in overcoming this danger.
Good nursing is of more importance than anything else in this disease. The patient must be isolated and careful disinfection of all the surroundings is important.
In every case, the doctor should determine by examination of the intestinal discharge whether any germs remain in the system, before the patient is discharged. Today every-means are taken to prevent this disease. Through much publicity, means of prevention of the disease are available to the public and we hope in time typhoid fever will be a thing of the past.

Speed Shown in Liming His Field

Crawford County Man Gets Ten Acres Treated in Only 24 Hours

Only 24 hours was required for the purchase, delivery, and application of 44 tons of limestone on a 10-acre field in the farm of Homer E. Crall of Crawford-co. this spring. Crall sat one morning in February, at 9 o'clock, listening to a lecture on "The Inside of the Soil," broadcast by radio as part of the Farmers' Week program at the Ohio State university. It was given by Dr. Richard Bradfield of the Soils department of the university. It convinced Crall that he should spend more of his 1930 plant-food appropriation for lime, and less for fertilizers. His farm lies in the sandstone shale area of Crawford-co., and the soil is acid. Crall had obtained benefit from the use of lime before.
At 10 o'clock, as the lecture ended, a salesman of agricultural liming materials pulled up to the house. He got Crall's order. At 10 o'clock the following morning the lime had been applied. 4.4 tons to the acre, on a field which will be used this year for corn. It had been hauled from the quarry on 5-ton trucks, to which were attached lime-spreading devices designed by Wilmer Lutz of Bucyrus, owner of the trucking service. Without unloading, the trucks were driven directly into the field, the spreaders hooked on, and the lime spread in 20-foot strips.
The material was a rather coarse limestone meal, and cost $235 a ton, spread. Its application is expected to benefit this year's corn crop by correcting soil acidity and hastening the decay of organic material in the soil. The hold-over effect of the lime will be evident for several years in the future, and will make possible the growing of soil-improving legumes in the field.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA
—She plays dignified society roles—but longs to play comedy parts. And gangster stories form her favorite reading.
This paradox is Kay Johnson, heroine of "The Ship From Shanghai," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sea drama now at the Cliftona Theatre. Miss Johnson, famous on the stage, made her first talking picture hit in C. B. De Mille's "Dynamite."
She liked the adventure of going to sea in a sound-equipped boat, and she read with glee "Little Caesar" and Don Clarke's "In the Reign of Rothstein" between scenes.
"I love adventure—always did ever since I was a very small girl," she confided to Louis Wolheim, who has an important role in the picture. "The most deadly thing in the world is monotony. That's one of the reason's I'd like to play comedy roles in pictures. There's always something new, for one has to adventure into characterizations to find what will create laughter and what won't."
The only thing in the sea picture which Miss Johnson didn't care for were the storm scenes. "They were fun, but I had to have my hair marcelled after every dousing—until life got to be just one permanent wave after another," said the actress.

KINGSTON

One hundred members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Standard Bearers, King's Herald and extension members met on Tuesday evening, March 25th, in the community room at a pot luck supper. After a delicious supper served in cafeteria style the following interesting program was presented. After the usual opening exercises with Mrs. F. I. Rittenour, the president of the W. F. M. S. presiding. She gave a report of the first meeting held by the local auxiliary in 1884, the minutes of this meeting being read. Mrs. Emma May gave an interesting report on the extension work. Mrs. Lenore Webb gave a splendid talk on missionary work in general. An offering of more than $20 was taken. Misses Ruth Jeanette Rittenour on the violin, accompanied by Miss Mary Ruth Tolbert on the piano entertained the meeting with music. The meeting was closed by the Minister Rev. Floyd S. Webb, who pronounced the usual benediction.
Mrs. Mary Lemley spent Thursday in Columbus and visited Mr. N. T. Leasure at Mt. Carmel hospital where he is recovering from a recent operation.
The Guild society of the Presbyterian church met in the lower room of the church on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Fannie Baker. After the usual opening exercises the meeting was given over to the hostesses Mesdames Charles Foster, Ada Dreisbach, James Leist, Ella Thomas and Misses Laura Jack and Anna Wright who turned the meeting into a Kensington which was very much enjoyed. The committee served delicious refreshments consisting of potato chips, chicken sandwiches, pickles and coffee to 25 members and guests.
Mr. F. M. DeBord and daughter Marie of Chillicothe were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Evans have received word that a son had been born to their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orland Evans at Owensboro, Ky. recently.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips' Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! How good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

WHAT THE WELL DRESSED HOME WILL WEAR

Now the rainy April is here, helping no end to perpetuate the umbrella business, our fancies lightly turn to thoughts of an old Spring custom: the adornment of this and the other thing.

We invite your particular attention to Mater Nature, busily engaged in dressing up all outdoors. We warn you to observe the more deadly of the species enraptured with the new Easter finery. To say nothing of the town's gay young blades as they cast an approving eye toward the galaxy of suits, coats, ties, hats so attractively displayed by our neighbors.

It's dress-up time, if you see what we mean, and if you do, let us tell you that our store is headquarters for what the well-dressed home will wear, and should wear as soon as possible. A new living room suite, a new rug, a new outfit for the spare bedroom—whatever your requirements may be, just come in for a look. It won't cost you a cent. And should it happen that we haven't got what we want we'll make an honest effort to get it for you.

I don't have that Rudy Vallee look in your eyes, if you start to recite poetry, if you don't care whether school keeps or not—all right make up your minds that Spring is actually here. BUT KNEED THAT HEATROLA GOING YET?

This is the month when plants which were not set out in the fall, may now be transferred out-of-door.

Some new patterns in Armstrong linoleum and Rugs are on display. Come in, look them over, and let us give you our estimate on the cost of "linoleum" your kitchen.

To folks who are confronted with the problem of storage for winter clothes, may we suggest that the Cavalier Cedar Chests (on sale here) will discourage the most persistent moth?

Mrs. Josephine Roth phones us that she is more than pleased with her new Estate Gas Range. Thus, another name is added to the long list of satisfied users. When are you going to end bake day troubles with an Estate?

Teacher—Why do you insist on spelling bank with a capital "B"? Joseph Franklin Bell, son of J. M. Bell—Well, Pa said a bank was no good unless it had a big capital.

Question—Would you dress your family as out-of-date as your furniture?

Luck seems to favor the man who doesn't count on it.

Whether you're re-building your old home or constructing a new one, it's a wise investment if you buy the high-quality furnishings. The difference between that and the cheapest is little in cost, but great in quality and service.

"Trus," called Mrs. T. P. Brown, from the bedroom, "I heard the clock strike two as you came in."

Our store reminds us of house-cleaning time at home. We feel like apologizing when customers come in, just like you women apologize when you receive callers during your annual spasm of cleaning house. But after painting the ceiling and the walls, we are beginning to believe that the results will be worth the inconvenience.

Watch for tomorrow's issue of The Herald, and see the large Parade of White Elephants. We know that there will be some bargains among them. Our "White Elephants" will be a lot of lamps of various types. They are old stickers that have been hanging around until they have worn off their welcome. But, if you can use them at the price we are offering to sell them, they'll be worth the money. Better look them over—you'll find some mighty good values among them.

Some folks think that when they want office furniture, they must go out of town for it. Not at all—come to see us first. We carry in stock some office chairs and filing cabinets. Desks are ordered from the factories and delivered in a few days after the order is placed. Just a few days ago, we delivered two nice walnut desks and chairs to a local man, and have a fine desk and chair on order for another professional man. Yes, we'll take care of your needs, and the profit (if any) will be spent right here at home.

The other day, a young lady from New Holland called and asked to have Pyrofax Gas Service explained to her. As you probably know, New Holland does not have the convenience of natural gas. However, Kennedy's Restaurant uses Pyrofax gas to heat his coffee urn, keep his steam table hot, and prepare short orders. He likes Pyrofax so well, because it is quick heat and no odor, that he mentioned it to our prospective user. Yes, everyone that has used Pyrofax boasts it. It certainly is a God-send to those living beyond the gas mains and yet would like to have the convenience of gas for cooking and baking. We're prepared to supply that service and would be glad to explain it to any one interested.

Quality—Value—and Style Alertness Plus

It takes even more than superior quality, excellent values and acknowledged fashion alertness to build an institution that will live for years.

It takes a policy that guarantees satisfaction no matter how small the purchase. For 40 years, 21 on rural routes and next 19 on Pickaway St., Rothman's have conscientiously exerted every effort to give satisfaction. Fair dealing has been the watchword of Rothman's since the day of Mr. Rothman's start in 1890.
